ART ON THE EDGE:
Exploring Materials in a New Way

OCTOBER 26, 2018
4:00-7:00PM

Focus: K-12, Visual Art & Language Arts
Location: Nora Eccles Harrison Museum of Art (NEHMA), USU Logan Campus
Presenters: Michael Bingham/Alyson Decker

WORKSHOP DESCRIPTION:
Celebrate the re-opening of the Nora Eccles Harrison Museum of Art by exploring the new exhibition, “Collecting on the Edge”, featuring work by 172 artists. In this hands on workshop, teachers will explore materials in a new way to create personal narratives inspired by the Museum’s collection. Workshop participants will examine both the metaphor and aesthetic of found, treasured and altered objects in the context of personal, historical and global spaces. Using a variety of materials, participants will be challenged to make meaning out of the rich texture of the human experience they call their personal narrative.
